

TALENT EMPOWERMENT

with Tom Finn

Talent Empowerment is about helping your people develop the competencies, confidence, and wellbeing to thrive! It's a crucial element for not only retaining your people, but ensuring a happy, healthy, and productive workforce.

Your host, Tom Finn, meets with HR leaders and talent empowerment influencers to uncover their tricks and tips on making the HR shift from top-down management to talent empowerment.

Let's get back to people and culture, together.

Let's Chat About...

Flattening the Workplace Hierarchy

People Analytics

Preventative Mental Health

Inclusion & Belonging

Future of Work

Competing for Talent

Winning Employee Strategies

Whole-Person Development

Tom Finn (he/him) is an InsurTech strategist and co-founder of a people development platform for small and medium-sized businesses. After successfully climbing the ladder at some of the largest insurance companies, Tom was left leading one too many meetings with sweaty palms, anxious thoughts, and no support. So, he ditched his corporate job to be at the forefront of today's talent empowerment movement. Today, he partners with HR leaders around the globe to help provide their people mental health and professional development tools that actually work and are actually used.

Tom is a member of the Young Entrepreneurs Council, a Forbes contributor, and an InsurTech Executive of the Year! In 2021, his company, LeggUP, was honored with the "Great Place to Work" award.
